He's the one who noticed his mom's face was swollen.

They're the ones she confided in about her change in vision and headache that wouldn't go away.

He's the one who really listened when she said that something just didn't feel right.

[Onscreen text] Know the warning signs. Talk to a doctor.

Too many women die from pregnancy-related complications each year in the US. It doesn't have to be that way. Most deaths are preventable.

Know the warning signs. Hear her concerns.
