

Social Consequences of Hearing Protection

Have you ever left a concert and heard a ringing in your ears? This is a sign that you've overworked your ears, leaving them prone to hearing damage that can't be reversed. You can prevent this by wearing hearing protection the next time you're at a concert.

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention
National Center for Environmental Health