PROGRAM DESCRIPTION: Outpatient dialysis infection prevention and control (IPC) best practices and recommendations help decrease the risk of infection for patients on dialysis and improve healthcare-associated infection rates. Featured speakers for this webinar include three frontline staff who will identify their unique roles, describe how they incorporate IPC best practices into their daily routines, and provide strategies for successful adherence to IPC best practices.

OBJECTIVES:

At the conclusion of the session, the participant should be able to:

1. Describe infection control techniques that reduce the risk and spread of healthcare-associated infections (HAI).
2. Identify unsafe practices that place patients at risk for HAIs.
3. Examine the different roles of dialysis staff and how their actions reinforce infection prevention and control.
4. Discuss strategies for successful infection prevention and control adherence and strategies to incorporate best practices for infection control and prevention in daily practice.
5. Describe the importance of interprofessional collaboration in the healthcare setting in support of HAI control.
