I support the efforts of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health in studying safety of truckers and the impact their safety and health has on other motorists. I am of the opinion truckers pose greater risks to highway hazards due to all concerns addressed in this study (e.g. lack of sleep, working conditions, fatigue and otherwise) and have found them to be negligent/unsafe in part due to traveling at higher rates of speed particularly when conditions are not favorable.

I do know to ensure better highway safety all persons on the road must take responsibility and do their part to make the environment safe, however, I believe, truck drivers should be required to reduce their speeds during hours when more motorists are on the road.

Thanks
